

Paul Lomax

New Haven, Connecticut | (503)780-6960 | Paul.lomax@yale.edu

EDUCATION

---

Yale University, New Haven, CT

May, 2027

Planned BA in Political Science

Relevant Coursework: Japanese Language Certificate; American Politics

International Security and Intelligence Programme, Cambridge University, Cambridge, UK

July, 2025

Taught in conjunction with King's College London, ISI is a one-month intensive summer program focused on the intelligence dimensions of international security; topics included: the intelligence agencies of the US and UK, information operations, regional security strategies, terrorism and conventional warfare, and the security implications of digital revolutions

Relevant Coursework: A+ grade for research paper "How does the maritime dimension of the One Belt and Road Initiative affect the security of the U.S. Naval supply system (Underway Replenishment, Vertical Replenishment), particularly through the vulnerability of strategic global ports such as Djibouti"

WORK EXPERIENCE

---

U.S. Navy, Aviation Rescue Swimmer/Helicopter Door Gunner, Full-Time, Norfolk, VA

Oct 2017 – Sep 2023

- Conducted open ocean rescues and supported Naval Special Operations missions.
- Squadron Search and Rescue Program Manager. Managed 30 individual qualifications to maintain mission readiness.
- Proficient in personnel recovery, combat search and rescue, and special operations missions.

Yale Foreign Policy Initiative, Council on Foreign Affairs, Analyst, New Haven, CT

Sep 2025 – Present

- Gathered data on and analyzed Chinese foreign ministry statements related to US actions vis-à-vis Taiwan to produce a substantive literature review.
- Collected relevant data on U.S.-Taiwan relations, including but not limited to arms sales, diplomatic consultations, and economic engagement.
- Generated policy-relevant ideas and analysis, convened experts and policymakers, and promoted informed public discussion.

Americans for Safe Aerospace, Volunteer Analyst, Washington DC

July 2025-Present

- Conducted Qualitative/Quantitative Analysis on Anomalous Phenomena data.
- Conducted one-on-one conferences with various researchers to deliver detailed feedback on UAP research strategies, evidence analysis, argument development, and writing mechanics for federal policy advocacy.

ADDITIONAL SKILLS AND QUALIFICATIONS

-
- Bilingual English/Japanese*
  - Active DOD Secret Security Clearance*
  - Naval Special Operations Leadership Experience*

